Foreword

According to the latest studies, about 6% of the G.D.P. in this country constitutes the total investment of Health Care. Out of this, direct investment by the Government on the public sector accounts for only 1.3 % and the rest comes from the private or the NGO sectors. Evidently, therefore, the private sector plays a major role in Health Care at all levels.

With the assistance of the World Bank and KfW (Germany) the Karnataka Government has recently undertaken an ambitious project for revamping and modernising the entire range of health systems in the State, with the primary focus on the poor and the under privileged. In this context, there is a strongly felt need for clearly defining and understanding the role the private sector already plays on the State's health scene; there is also an equally urgent need on the part of the Govt. agencies to achieve better co-ordination with the private sector, so as to derive optimum benefit from the total investment on Health Care. The State has also the responsibility to ensure adherence top ethical norms and practices and certain irreducible standards of quality of the services provided by all health institutions, irrespective of the sectors they belong to.

It is against this background that this detailed study of the role of the private sector in the health sector of the state has been undertaken. The study is based on voluminous information collected from private hospitals and voluntary organisation in the state.

I am particularly thankful to Dr. NK Shah of the World Health Organisation in India for his constructive suggestions regarding the scope of the project. I am also thankful to WHO and Dr. Shah for having agreed readily to provide financial support for conducting this project.

I must also thank Mr. D.V.N. Sarma, whose efforts are largely responsible for the timely completion of this excellent report.

Health Care Facilities in Non-Government Sector in Karnataka

1. Introduction

The Government of Karnataka has planned to improve the quality and coverage of services offered by District and Taluka level Hospitals. It is impossible for the State to bear the burden of providing health care services for the entire population. It should therefore, as a matter of policy intervene in geographical areas or segments which are not adequately serviced by the private sector. If voluntary organizations are providing health care or willing to provide health care with marginal support, the State could support them. The State can, then concentrate on unserviced/under serviced regions and economically weaker sections and provide quality medical care thereby making efficient use of available resources.

The State should also ensure that ethical practices are adopted and quality health care at affordable prices is provided by the private sector by encouraging self regulation by the private sector and intervene if self regulation is not coming forth.

In order to achieve these objectives, the State Government need to have information on the magnitude, their distribution across the State and the range of services offered by health care service institutions in the private sector in the State.

No reliable information is available on health care providers in the private sector. The Karnataka Medical Council does not have up to date record of registered medical practitioners. The pharmaceutical companies maintain and update their lists of doctors, hospitals and nursing homes. The coverage by each company is dependent on the number of medical representatives employed by it. The pharmaceutical companies are not ready to part with the list as they would not like competitors to have access to their list. The Government of Karnataka, therefore has with the assistance from the World Health Organization, initiated a Survey of Private Hospitals and Nursing Homes and NGOs Providing Health Care Services in Karnataka.

The objectives of the project are to:

- prepare a list of health care providers in the non-government sector giving details of their location;
- the size and ownership of the institutions;
- the range of services offered by them,
- their staffing;
- utilization of their services;
- profile of users of their services;
- the cost of selected services; and
- compile a list of voluntary organizations promoting health care and their location.

The Government of Karnataka has entrusted the task of conducting a census of health care providers in the non-government sector to STEM.

2. Methodology

The investigators engaged by STEM visited each Taluka headquarters and other market centres. At each location, the chemists in each area of the town were asked to give the names of private hospitals and nursing homes and their location. Wholesale and retail chemists in Taluka headquarters and other market towns were asked to give the names of hospitals in neighbouring towns/villages. The medical representatives of pharmaceutical companies working in the area were also approached to obtain the names and location of hospitals in the non-government sector. Names and addresses of voluntary agencies were obtained from the district health staff and local leaders.

The investigators visited each hospital named by the chemists or medical representatives and collected information, from the head of the institution, on the hospital with the aid of a structured questionnaire. (Annexure 1). The head of the institution was asked to mention the names and location of hospitals he/she is aware of, operating in the town or neighbouring towns and villages. These addresses also were added to the list of hospitals to be surveyed. In all 1709 hospitals in the non-government sector were located and interviewed. Summary results of the census are presented in the following sections. The detailed tabulations are presented in Annexure 2. The complete list of hospitals with address are presented by district and place in Annuxure 3. The List of voluntary organizations is presented in Annexure 4.

3. Distribution of Hospitals in Non-Government Sector

3.1. Distribution of Hospitals by Regions

The Gulbarga Division has the lowest number of hospitals in the non-government sector as compared to the other three divisions. Only 15 percent of total number of institutions are in the Gulbarga Division and account for less than 9 percent of such hospitals in the State.

In the non-government sector, Mysore Division has the highest number of beds per thousand persons(1.132) while Gulbarga Division has the least number (0.411). In the other two divisions, the beds per thousand persons is closer to that for the State as a whole.

Table 3.1.1. Distribution of Hospitals by Region

Revenue Division	Institutions		Bed Strength		Beds/1000 Persons
	Number	Percent	Number	Percent
Bangalore	524	30.66	13,465	32.92	0.808
Belgaum	568	33.24	11,049	27.01	0.925

Karnataka	1,709	100.00	40,900	100.00	0.842

No hospital in the Non-government sector could be located in twenty-one talukas listed below. However, hospitals in the government sector exist in these talukas.

District	Taluka	District	Taluka	District	Taluka
Bellary	Hadagali	Dharwad	Hirekerur	Hassan	Channarayapatna

3.2. Distribution by Type

There are 1214 general hospitals 451 hospitals providing MCH services, and 43 hospitals providing ophthalmic care and one providing oncology services. The distribution of hospitals and beds by type of services provided is presented in Table 3.2.1. Hospitals by type and taluka are presented in Table 2.1 of Annexure 2.

Table 3.2.1. Distribution of Hospitals by Type

3.3. Distribution of Hospitals by Ownership

Table 3.3.1 presents the distribution of hospitals and bed strength by ownership of the hospital. Charitable Trusts and Registered Societies own only 6.44 percent of hospitals but account for 30 percent of total bed strength. Individuals and partnerships own over 90 percent of hospitals but account for only 60 percent of the total bed strength.

Total	1,709	100.00	40,900	100.00

3.4. Distribution of Hospitals by Bed Strength

Only 3.27 percent of hospitals have 100 or more beds but they account for 37 percent of total bed strength in the non-government sector. Eighty four percent of the hospitals have bed strength less than 30 beds but account for only 41 percent of total bed strength.

3.5. Availability of Beds by District

The availability of beds in both sectors — government and non-government is below the norm of one bed per thousand persons in Bangalore Rural, Tumkur, Raichur and Mandya districts.

If on the other hand, one looks at the availability by talukas, it will be noticed that 124 talukas out of 174 talukas have combined bed strength of government and non-government sectors below the norm of one bed per thousand persons. In eighty four talukas the bed strength is less than 0.5 beds per thousand persons. These eight four talukas come from all districts excepting Dakshina Kannada and Kodagu.

Even though non-government sector exists in 153 talukas, there are diagnostic laboratory facilities in only 131 talukas, x-ray facilities in 109, ultra sound in 73 and blood banks in 22. A list of all talukas in which the above facilities do not exist are presented in Table 2.2 of Annexure 2.

5. Staffing of Hospitals

Excluding the visiting doctors and technicians, the total strength of doctors, nurses and technicians employed full time in the non-government sector hospitals is 20,341. On an average there is one doctor for every six beds, one nurse for every four beds and one technician for every 17 beds.

Bangalore Division has the maximum full time staff — doctors, nurses and technicians per thousand beds in each category. Gulbarga Division has more doctors and less nurses as compared to Belgaum and Mysore Divisions. Hospitals in Mysore Division have less number of specialists and super-specialists as compared to Bangalore Division even though the bed strength is almost equal. Hospitals in Belgaum Division have 49 General Duty M.O.s per thousand beds while the other three Divisions have around 70 General Duty M.O.s per thousand beds.

6. Utilization of Hospitals in Non-government Sector

The bed occupancy in the non-government sector hospitals is 63 percent. While the occupancy rate is 64 percent in general hospitals it is 55 percent in maternity homes and 49 percent in specialty hospitals which are providing ophthalmic services. The outpatient to inpatient ratio is highest in maternity homes followed by ophthalmic hospitals and the lowest in general hospitals.

All Hospitals	40,900	25,623	72,699	62.6	2.84

The bed occupancy varies from 48 percent in Chikmagalur to 74 percent in Hassan district. The outpatient to inpatient ratio varies between 1.7 to 7.4 The outpatient to inpatient ratio is inversely correlated with the bed strength of the hospitals. (R = -0.78).

The bed occupancy is higher among large hospitals as compared to small hospitals. Bed occupancy is highest (79.5%) in hospitals run by religious missions followed by registered societies (71.4%). In spite of the hospitals run by limited companies being larger than those run by individuals or partnerships, the bed occupancy in hospitals run by limited companies is lower than that in the hospitals run by individuals or partnerships.

7. Profile of Users

Nearly forty six percent of the users of non-government hospitals have family income below Rs. 1,000 p.m., thirty seven percent have family income between Rs. 1,000 to 3,000 p.m. and the remaining seventeen percent have family income over Rs. 3,000 p.m. The percent of users with monthly family income below Rs. 1,000 increases as the settlement size decreases.

8. User Charges

The Chief Medical officer was asked to indicate the normal charges levied by his/her hospital for selected services. For some of the services, more specifically OBG and surgical services, the range (minimum and maximum) was given. However, even though the range is entered in the questionnaire, the maximum indicated is used in the analysis. There is a considerable variation between the hospitals in the levy of user charges. The minimum, maximum, mean charges and standard deviation for each type of service is presented in Table 8.1.

There is considerable variation in the levy of user charges depending on the location and ownership of hospitals

8.1. User Charges by Ownership

The average of user charges levied by ownership of hospitals for selected services is presented in Table 8.1.1.

User charges for consultancy are the highest in limited company run hospitals. Hospitals run by private individuals singly or in groups charge less than limited companies but more charitable trusts and registered societies. Charges for consultancy by religious missions are marginally less than those levied by trusts/societies.

As regards charges for diagnostic tests, there appears to be no significant difference between hospitals with different ownership.

User charges for OBG and Surgical services are the highest in case of limited companies. Individual/group run hospitals charge less than limited companies but more than the hospitals run by religious missions. Charges of charitable trusts/ registered societies are the lowest among all the four groups.

8.2. User Charges by Settlement Size

The user charges by size of settlement for each type of service are presented in Table 8.2.1. It is observed that the difference between settlements with population between 100,000 to 499,999 and those between 500,000 to 999,999 are not significant. Similarly, there is no difference between the two smallest settlement sizes. However, there is a substantial decline in user charges from cities with population over one million to cities with population between 100,000 and one million and towns with population below 100,000.

The difference in user charges between different settlement size is partly due to the income differentials among the users of non-government hospitals (See Table 8.2.2 for income profile of users).
